Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr., chancellor of The TSU System, presents the Distinguished Alumni of the Year Award for TSU to Dr. Thomas Harrison.

HARRISON RECEIVES AWARD

The Distinguished Alumni of the Year Award for Troy State University was presented to Dr. Thomas Harrison during the halftime activities at the recent TSU Homecoming festivities at Memorial Stadium in Troy. Dr. Jack Hawkins, Jr., chancellor of The TSU System, presented the award to Dr. Harrison.

The National Alumni Association Board of Directors selects outstanding individuals based upon a high standard of personal living, professional achievement, community service and service to the university and the Alumni Association.

While a student at Troy State University, Harrison served as SGA president under the administration of Dr. Ralph Adams, then president of TSU and currently Chancellor Emeritus of The TSU System. After graduating from TSU, Harrison served in public school administration as assistant principal at Lanier High School in Montgomery, principal at T.R. Miller High School in Brewton, and principal of Carroll High School in Ozark.

His higher education administration began at Wallace College-Dothan, where he served as dean of student development. In 1985, he was named president of Troy State University at Dothan. Since coming to TSUD, his outstanding leadership abilities have contributed to an increase in enrollment of 65 percent, and his ability to have a vision and implement a plan of development have resulted in the construction of a beautiful campus on 250 acres of land just north of the city of Dothan. His vision continues as plans for two additional multipurpose buildings are currently on the drawing board, enabling TSUD to better serve the student population in the Wiregrass region.

He is married to the former Sarah McQueen, who is a counselor for the Ozark City Schools. They have two children: Lee Anne, a teacher in the Ozark City School System, and Gray, a senior at Troy State University.
